PRESS RELEASE

November 17, 2011

Five Below[®] and Lancaster County's Public Libraries team up to fund children's reading program!

Help us raise funds for children's library programs. It's easy to participate! See your local librarian for a special flyer for Five Below[®] stores. Bring the flyer with you when you shop beginning Saturday, December 3rd through Friday, December 23. 10% of your total purchase will go to benefit your Local Public Libraries across Lancaster County.

Liz Romaine, Marketing Manager for Five Below[®], is very enthusiastic about this partnership, "We are excited to partner with the Library System of Lancaster County. We understand the importance of a strong library system and are pleased to be able to support their goals so they continue to serve the diverse needs of the community."

If you've never been to a Five Below[®] store, it offers extreme value on trend-right products for children, teens and beyond with a dynamic assortment of merchandise. Priced just right for your budget...everything is $5 or under! Flyers are available at all Lancaster County local public libraries and the Bookmobile. You may also download the flyer at www.lancasterlibraries.org

The Library System and its member libraries are facing children's program cuts for 2012 and through this new partnership there will be an opportunity to offset the impact of those cuts. Renee Christiansen, Youth Services Manager, appreciates the support and community commitment that this local business has for public libraries and literacy. For more information, please contact your local public library or Bookmobile.
